Shadows from the Past: Sansei Artists & the American Concentration Camps

This month, Delta's Asian Pacific Islander American Staff Association (APIASA) will be co-sponsoring an event with Delta's Cultural Awareness Program and the Stockton Chapter of the Japanese Americans Citizen's League to profile the art of Sansei (i.e., third-generation Japanese-American) artists that will be hosted at the LH Horton Jr. Art Gallery right here on campus.

This fascinating exhibition, curated by Gail Enns, examines how Japanese-Americans have historically negotiated their cultural and political place as Americans. Many of these works highlight issues of displacement and shared injustices Japanese-Americans carry in their familial pasts, including their internment in American concentration camps during WWII.

The exhibition is hosting a virtual opening reception event to introduce the artists on Thursday, January 21st at 5:30pm! Do not miss this opportunity to experience a glimpse of Japanese-American history illustrated across a wide range of mediums and told through the eyes of those who have inherited these stories.

For the 29th year, APIASA is doing our best to sponsor Asian-American events and support our AAPI students with access to higher education through monetary scholarships. Many of Delta's AAPI students are among some of the most economically disadvantaged; according to the Office of Institutional Research and Effectiveness, over 90% of our Cambodian, Laotian, Vietnamese, and Samoan students are low income. If you would like to support our cause, please consider making a one-time donation. Every dollar goes 100% to awarding student scholarships and is tax deductible.

You can also consider donating through a monthly payroll deduction! If all Delta employees contributed just $5 a month (the price of a Venti Latte at Starbucks), all of our annual awards would be easily sustained.
