WORLD LANGUAGES & GLOBAL STUDIES

An Associate in Arts in World Languages and Global Studies. A multidisciplinary course of study that encourages global awareness, inter-cultural communication and understanding through the acquisition of at least one modern language other than English, namely Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese, Sign Language, and Spanish. The program is designed with the dual intent of developing both linguistic and cultural competence.

Affording multiple opportunities for cross-linguistic and cross-cultural comparisons, the program examines and analyzes language, communication, and global affairs. As the world addresses urgent issues of multiculturalism, race, diversity, and social justice, a broad global perspective as promoted by this program is of great value. The elective component of the program allows students to frame their world language acquisition within global studies, coursework in culture and society studies with a regional emphasis or international relations.
